

1st Wildfire Ignition Causes International Conference

Identify, understand, and prevent: the expanding role of wildfire investigations

We are excited to announce the 1st Wildfire Ignition Causes International Conference in Porto, Portugal, from November 18-22, 2025.

This is an opportunity for researchers, professionals, and policymakers to discuss the most advanced knowledge and technology to expand the investigation of wildfire ignition causes and identify knowledge gaps to face current and future challenges.

WIC25 offers an opportunity to:

- Connect with an international audience
- Share information and develop new relationships
- Demonstrate new technologies or products
- Gain support for your agency or organization

This event will include workshops, three full days of presentations, discussion groups, networking opportunities, and field trips.

Detailed information can be found at www.wic25.eu.
